I am a dedicated and adaptable professional seeking to transition into a Backend Developer role. With a background in teaching, mechanical maintenance, and supervision, I bring strong problem-solving skills, attention to detail, and a passion for learning. My experience as an English instructor honed my communication and instructional abilities, while my technical skills in laundry machinery maintenance and supervision in administrative roles have developed my organizational and multitasking capabilities. Eager to leverage these skills and my growing expertise in backend development to contribute effectively to a dynamic development team.
